Quick question: Did you know that procrastinating on your New Year's resolution to be ridiculously generous is scientifically proven to cause FOMO (Fear of Missing Out) in the generosity Olympics?

Don't worry, though! There's still time to secure your gold medal in the "Helping to Cure a Rare Disease" event. We're on the brink of 2024, and your last-minute, fashionably late donation could be the plot twist we all need.

Think of it as the most stylish exit line of the year — "See ya, 2023, and here's a little something for our SCN2A Family!" Your donation, no matter how big or small, will be the grand finale fireworks in this year's mission to accelerate research, build community, and advocate to improve the lives of ALL those affected by SCN2A-related disorders.

Act fast! Click below to donate online or send a carrier pigeon to our P.O. Box (just kidding, online is best but we do accept snail mail at the address below, just date your check 12/31/23 to count for this year).

Here's to kicking off 2024 with a bang! Let's cure this thing. #CureSCN2A
