

Dear SCN2A Families,

We are thrilled to share an important milestone for our community: SCN2A-related disorders now have their own ICD-10 medical diagnosis code.

This new code is more than just a number—it is a powerful tool for your child's care and for our collective progress. Having a dedicated ICD-10 code:

- Ensures accurate medical documentation and insurance coverage. It helps physicians and hospitals correctly record SCN2A as the diagnosis, which can improve access to services, therapies, and appropriate reimbursement.
- Enables better data collection and research. A unique code allows health systems and researchers to track SCN2A more precisely, supporting future studies and clinical trials.
- Raises visibility. The code recognizes SCN2A at the national and global level, underscoring the importance of our community and the need for continued research and resources.

Enclosed you'll find a hard copy of the SCN2A ICD-10 code—small enough to keep in your wallet or purse alongside insurance cards. We encourage you to bring it to every medical visit and share it with your care teams.

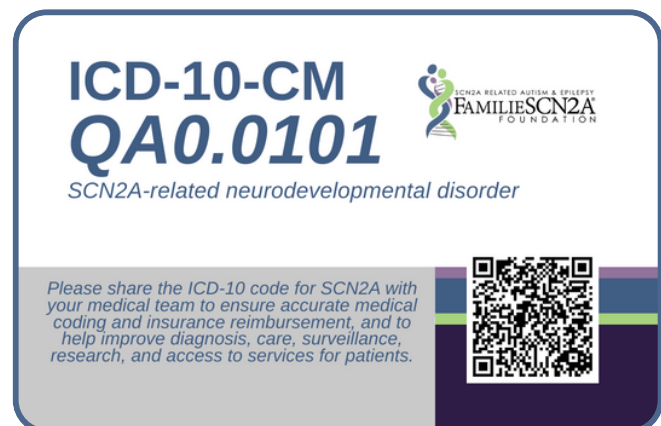

This achievement comes at a special moment—the 10th Anniversary of the FamilieSCN2A Foundation. It is the result of years of advocacy and collaboration by families, clinicians, and supporters across our community. The new ICD-10 code is proof of what we can accomplish together—and a foundation for the progress still to come.

As we celebrate, we invite you to mark the moment with a $10 anniversary gift in honor of ICD-10 and 10 Years of Progress.

Every gift accelerates the breakthroughs ahead. You can make your anniversary gift today by scanning the QR code provided.

With gratitude for 10 years of progress,

The FamilieSCN2A Foundation Team

P.S. As we close this landmark year, we'll be sharing more ways you can help accelerate progress. Together, we can pave the way for the next decade of breakthroughs.
